GOVERNMENT OF GOA

“KAMDHENU SCHEME” (SUDHARIT)

Department of Animal Husbandry Directorate of Animal Husbandry & Veterinary Services

Introduction.— Government has introduced Kamdhenu Scheme (Sudharit) strictly based upon the applicant fulfilling the following conditions:—

Notification

13-91/Kamd/(S)/2012-13/4109

The following Amended Scheme approved by the Government is published for general information:—

(a) The applicant has to be a bonafide
resident of Goa for at least 05 years.

(b) Shall possess a Pucca cattle shed with cement flooring for housing the animals proposed to be reared.

(c) Undertake to strictly stall-feed the animals and not allow open grazing.

(d) New entrants should compulsorily undergo two weeks practical training on Government Farms.

The main reason for the success of the dairy programme in India is the involvement of milk producers in setting up their own organizations for milk production enhancement, milk procurement, processing and marketing. Dairying, as a subsidiary source of income, is a real relief to most of these weaker groups in society. In today's life style one or two milch animals is not sufficient to enable these farmers to generate sufficient additional income to break the various subsistence agricultural debt cycle. Animal Husbandry plays a vital role in providing household nutritional security, increased income, and employment especially of women and in rural transformation. Livestock provide economic security and social status to the family. Concentration of Livestock in general and small ruminants in particular, is in marginal, small and semi-medium holding, which mostly represent poorer sections of the society. Thus progress in livestock sector is directly related to a more balanced development of rural economy and upliftment of the poor sections of the society.

Dairying with crossbred cattle and high yielding buffaloes has become a remunerative business. Studies have shown that dairy enterprise as against crop in rural areas was on the top with regard to profit in marginal, small and medium holding. Dairying and crop production together for small farmers having irrigated land was more profitable than crop farming alone. Animal Husbandry components provide easy cash; therefore, small farmers prefer it to crop production.

To begin with and in order to accelerate at fast pace the daily milk production in the State the Scheme is intended to be implemented with full zeal throughout the State and create special milk producing pockets called 'Dudh Gram Villages'.

The Dudh Gram Villages shall be carved out, based on their records of supply of maximum milk produced in a year and supplied to the Goa Milk Producers' Union. The concept is to target these groups and attain faster results in these Villages/Gram Panchayats to be declared as Dudh Gram in the implementation of Milk Policy for the State with the intention of giving special attention in the policy and programme implementation.

Objectives of the Scheme.— The main objectives of the scheme are:
